BRINGS BUONO TO CHARLEROI

Chief Albright Returns This Afternoon With Man Accused of Murder

STORY TOLD OF CAPTURE

After his sensational capture of August Buono accused murderer of Calogero Sanfilippi in a Charleroi barber shop November 24, 1914, Chief of Police C. W. Albright this afternoon arrived home with his prisoner. He was met in Pittsburgh this morning by D. R. Duvall, president of council and Policeman Gus Brickner, Chief Albright having come with his man late Wednesday night from Alexandria, Ind., where Buono was captured. He will be taken likely to Washington within a day or two.

Chief Albright has been on the trail of the accused murderer for about a year, getting clues from various sources. Last winter he took a sudden trip to Chicago upon what seemed positive information that his wanted man was there. Buono managed to elude the vigilance of Chief Albright and others who attempted to trail him.

The on Monday came the information suddenly from Alexandria that Buono was there and Chief Albright departed for that point. The information was correct. Buono was located at a house and Chief Albright saw him peer through a window. The house was first surrounded and then entered. Buono was overpowered. As soon as details could be arranged he started for Pittsburgh with him Wednesday placing him there in the Allegheny county jail awaiting the arrival of Charleroi people to bring him here.

RIVER COAL TRAFFIC MAY BECOME HEAVIER

Freight Embargo on Railroad May Drive Shippers Almost Entirely To Use of River, According to Idea of Up-River Operators.

Water traffic in coal is likely to become much heavier during the coming spring and summer than it has for years, according to the idea of coal shippers of the upper Monongahela valley. This will be due to embargoes on rail shipments to eastern markets. The railroads are literally swamped with business and they have neither the rolling stock nor the trackage to accommodate it.

Coal shippers who have been depending upon the railroad for moving their coal are becoming alarmed over the situation and are looking to the river as their only hope of salvation this summer.

SEVEN FOREIGNERS HURT BY RIVER VALLEY TRAIN

Seven foreigners, track laborers, were injured at West Brownsville Junction Tuesday when a freight train backed into them on a siding of the Pennsylvania railroad. The injured are James G. McCoy, aged 18 years; George Single, aged 18 years; Maum Noskiff, aged 30 years; Jam Illios, aged 25 years; Victor Matrayatoss, aged 43 years; Thomas Rifenis, aged 30 years and Sokroka Calambis, aged 37 years.

PROMPT WORK SAVES LOSS AT KIMMELL LIVERY BARN

Heavy Damage From Fire Prevented By Use of Telephone and Quick Response of Fire Department.

Prompt telephoning of an alarm and prompt response by the fire department probably prevented heavy damage from fire at the Kimmell livery barn on McKean avenue between Sixth and Seventh streets shortly after midnight this morning. The fire originated at a partition between the office and harness room from a gas fire and was discovered by the man in charge of the stable. The alarm was telephoned to the fire department and the firemen responded without delay. Chemicals were used and the blaze extinguished before it had progressed far. However it had a good start and in a few minutes more would have produced a heavy damage. Probably $100 will cover the loss.

FIND BABE DIED OF SUFFOCATION

Investigation of Coroner Into Finleyville Case Disproves Story First Told

SOME OF NARRATIVE REMAINS

An autopsy held Wednesday disclosed that the infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Pietro of Finleyville had been smothered to death while sleeping between its parents and Fred S. Keese, the Finleyville character, who was placed under arrest accused of being responsible for injuries that were supposed to have caused the child to die was ordered released by Coroner James Heffran.

In examining the infant, Dr. A. E. Shuster of Finleyville discovered that the heart plainly showed the child had been suffocated. Officers thought the infant had died as a result of a fractured skull which it received in falling from its mother's arms. But its skull was not fractured and the child had not been seriously enough hurt to have caused its death.

Coroner Heffran, however, will conduct an inquest into the child's death Friday morning at 9:30 o'clock. There were no other new developments in the sordid case. Practically all other facts, excepting the cause of the child's death have been substantiated.

No One To Blame.

Coroner James T. Heffran held an inquest Tuesday at Donora in the death of George Fazika, who was run down and killed by an automobile on the Monessen-Webster road. Fazika died in the Memorial hospital at Monongahela. The jury found that his death was accidental and held no one responsible.

Death of William H. Keirn.

John Keirn of Monongahela has received word of the death of his brother, William H. Keirn of Philadelphia, one of the chief officials in the electrical department of the Pennsylvania railroad, as a result of ptomaine poisoning. Mr. Keirn passed away while in the Broadstreet station, Philadelphia. Interment will be in Altoona.

DRILLING TEST WELLS FOR COAL

Pittsburgh People Control Options for Coal Land Back of Charleroi

MAY SELL TO BIG COMPANY

Several test wells have been drilled by Pittsburgh people in land held by option back of Charleroi Donora and Monongahela, and other wells will be drilled to ascertain the thickness, depth and grade of coal veins other than the Pittsburgh vein, with the view possibly of starting operations on a new scale. Arrangements have been made if the coal proves promising, to sell to a large producing company of the Pittsburgh district, this company in turn to start mining.

Among the wells drilled is one on the McKean and the Sphar farm near the Charleroi boundary line. Another well has been drilled along Mapie creek. From these it would seem the Mapie creek coal is none too promising. Three veins were encountered in the drilling, the first an 11 inch vein, the second a 2 1/2 foot vein and the last a three foot vein. The latter it is believed is the Freeport vein.

When other wells are drilled coal will be analyzed if the veins are sufficiently thick and upon the results will hinge future development. Drilling and tests may continue for six weeks or two months.

ROAD SAID TO BE IN DANGEROUS CONDITION

It is reported that, owing to the recent rains, the new brick road between Webster and Monessen has become somewhat dangerous. Much of the hillside where the deepest cuts were made has tumbled down on to the road and at several places it is hardly wide enough for a vehicle or a machine to get past. In one place the road bed has broken and the curb displaced for enough to bring about a dangerous condition. The state highway officials made a tour of inspection on Tuesday and were in consultation with the Rostraver township supervisors, with the hope of getting the road cleared up as soon as possible. However, no agreement was reached, as the township did not care to assume the responsibility for the work and the state and township will now work in conjunction in the matter.

The road is one of the most extensively traveled highways in this section of the country and owing to the large number of automobiles, jitneys and foot passengers passing along, these dangers to travelers have become so great and so generally recognized that the matter of protection to the traveling public will be taken up with the state highway department.

Joseph Haube was a business caller in Pittsburgh Wednesday.

NO BUILDING OF ROADS IN GREENE

Such Seems to be the Case in Spite of Sentiment to the Contrary

NO STATE AID AVAILABLE

Greene countians who were expecting to have some roads permanently improved during the summer will be disappointed to learn that it will be impossible to get any state aid this year.

It was reported at the time of the county convention of the township supervisors that there was $32,000 of state funds ready to be used in that county provided that the county and townships should appropriate a like amount. The county and townships through which the roads were to be built got busy and soon arrangements had been made for the appropriation. Then it was learned that it would be impossible to get the money.

There seems to be much sentiment in the county for the building of some permanent roads. It had been decided to build with the aid of the state funds a stretch of road from the end of the Rogersville road, which is improved westward to the intersection of the Rutan road with the Holbrook road and then to start construction of the Waynesburg and Rices Landing road, commencing at Morrisville and building eastward.

The present board of county commissioners is very much in favor of permanently improved roads, and while they have not expressed themselves openly, yet it is thought that if enough sentiment was shown over the county for improved roads, something might be done along the line during the summer.

JUDGE M'ILVAINE QUILTS PRESIDENCY OF TRUSTEES

At a meeting of the board of trustees of the Washington and Jefferson College at Washington Wednesday afternoon, Judge McIlvaine, for 19 years president of the body, resigned the office on account of pressing business in connection with his legal office and because of his age. A committee comprising Dr. William E. Slemmons and James L. Brownson of Washington and J. C. Boyer of Pittsburgh, was named to recommend a successor, who will likely be elected at the next meeting in June.

The W. & J. trustees acted favorably on a recommendation from the Washington County alumni Association that the number of alumni trustees be increased from 6 to 10 and that the office of each be extended from three to five years. The board in endorsing the recommendation provided that two alumni trustees be chosen by the General Alumni Association each year, at the annual meeting at commencement time and that no alumni member of the board could succeed himself. The new trustee election arrangement will become effective at the June election.

SLAVOK WOMAN WALKS FROM FERRY FLAT; IS RESCUED

Captain Faddis and Clark Ritchey of Boat Mermaid Save Her From Drowning—Thought Shore Was Reached.

A Slavok woman of unknown name from No. 18 house of a group of miners' homes at Gallatin back of Fayette City narrowly escaped drowning when she walked off the ferry boat between Allentown and Fayette City late Wednesday night. The woman was saved by Capt. Isaac Faddis and Clark Ritchey of the boat Mermaid who rowed to her aid after they had heard frantic calls from the ferry boat.

It seems the woman was under the impression that the Fayette City shore had been reached when she calmly walked to the end of the ferry barge and disappeared over edge. When pulled out by Capt. Faddis and Ritchey 300 yards away from the ferry boat the woman was semi-conscious. She was taken home.

VALUATIONS ARE DEFINITELY SET

Reduction Made in Coal Assessments From Amount Set by Assessors

FALLOWFIELD IS INCREASED

The County Commissioners have concluded their adjustment of valuations on coal properties in the different townships and boroughs and the result is a material reduction from the assessors' returns made at the triennial reappraisement. The assessments on coal will be somewhere near the valuations which formerly prevailed and the total valuation of property in the county will not be reduced. As a result of the adjustment the increases and decreases by districts are as follows:

Increase—Carroll, $5; East Bethlehem, $5; Fallowfield, $5; Robinson, $5; Union, $5; West Pike Run, $5.

Decrease—East Finley, $5; Morris, $5; Mt. Pleasant, $5; North Franklin, $10; Nottingham, $10; South Franklin, $10; West Finley, $10.

The adjusted valuations by districts show the following valuations:

Allen township, $350; Amwell township, $120; Beallsville, $225; Bentleyville, $250; Blaine township, $40; Buffalo township, $50; Canton township, $90; Carroll township, $280; Cecil township, $55; Independence township, Chartiers township, $195; Cross Creek township, $80; Deemston borough, $250; Donegal township, $40; Dunlavy borough, $350; East Bethlehem township, $305; East Finley township, $40; East Pike Run township, $350; Fallowfield township, $280; Hanover township, $15; Hopewell township, $5; Independence township, $55; Jefferson township, $50; Long Branch borough, $310; Marianna borough, $150; Monongahela City, Third ward, $310; Morris township, $65; Mt. Pleasant township, $115; New Eagle borough, $310; North Franklin township, $90; North Strabane township, $150; Nottingham township, $190; Peters township, $160; Robinson township, $115; Smith township, $95; Somerset township, $175; South Franklin township, $80; South Strabane township, $115.

MEASLES BRINGS ABOUT FATALITY

Eight-Year old Girl of Ninth Street Neighborhood Victim—Situation Controlled

53 CASES UNDER QUARANTINE

Though there are 53 cases of measles under quarantine in the Ninth street neighborhood and though one death occurred early this morning from the effects of the disease the epidemic is under control there. Health Officer William Darby with the aid of members of the health board and doctors has been working hard since the beginning of the epidemic to control the situation and this morning felt for the first time that matters were well in hand.

The first death from measles for a year or more occurred when Mary Pynick, aged eight years, died at the home of her parents, at 9:05 Prospect avenue at 3:30 this morning. She had been ill just a few days. Her funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock and interment will be private in the Charleroi cemetery. Four cases were reported to Health Officer Darby Wednesday and quarantine was established.

PROF. DANIEL CHOSEN FOR UTICA EISTEDDFOD

Charleroi Supervisor of Music is Honored by Appointment to Adjudicate Great Affair—Utica Eisteddfod One of Highest Class.

Prof. I. T. Daniel, supervisor of music in the Charleroi schools has been selected as the adjudicator for the next eisteddfod to be held in Utica, N. Y., by the Cymreigyddon Society of that city. The Utica Press says:

"Prof. Daniel needs no introduction in Utica, nor does the public need to be told his musical ability. He has served the Utica eisteddfod in the capacity of adjudicator at three successive sessions, giving always the best of satisfaction. He at present is supervisor of music at Charleroi, Pa., a position he has held for a number of years. His many friends hereabouts will be pleased to learn of his selection by the Cymreigyddon who will also be congratulated upon securing a musical adjudicator of his popularity and musical ability. The position to which he has been chosen is one of the most responsible of the eisteddfod and upon the manner in which its duties are performed depends much of the success of the event. Prof. Daniel knows the requirements from long experience and the eisteddfod will gain prestige and success from his presence."

The Utica eisteddfod is one of the most noted in the United States. Prof. Daniel's service three successive terms as adjudicator and his selection for the coming eisteddfod is unusual. The eisteddfod will be held New Year's eve and New Year's day.

WHEN SHOPPERS ABUSE.

Is there a thing that can be done in a practical way to correct the "return-the-goods" evil from which all merchants of all cities suffer? The merchant wants to be accommodated. It is a great business policy, as well as his natural inclination. Therefore, he permits the customer to return and to exchange her purchases. And many customers who so flagrantly abuse this privilege do not actually appreciate the enormity of it, says the New Castle Herald. A lady in a western city told of buying a $50 coat which she did not intend to keep, but wanted to wear it to a reception. She had a charge account at the store, so after wearing the coat to the reception she returned it and got credit for the amount. She did not feel that she was stealing for she spoke openly and unblushingly of the incident. A merchant in a city not far from here had a box of unlabeled stockings returned for exchange. The obliging merchant traced the original sale to an account dated twenty-four years ago and thus established the long-distance record for the exchange of goods.

In their present struggle with the abuse of this system, the merchants of the different large cities are testing various methods. Los Angeles reports a forty-eight-hour rule on the return of all merchandise. Cleveland has the same rule. San Francisco merchants require that returns must be made immediately if credit is to be given.

Minneapolis merchants who are parties to an agreement will permit no returns at all—excepting presumably, where the goods are really at fault, while in St. Paul there is a twenty-four-hour return rule on goods sent on approval. In Denver the rule is pretty much the same as in Minneapolis. Merchants in other cities are also said to have arbitrary regulations that are doing their work well, according to reports heard. That they have been successful is judged by the fact that merchants who did not join the various movements when they were begun have since fallen into line.

Sensitive shoppers in some cities have had their feelings hurt frequently, of late, by printed admonitions concerning the return of goods which they have found with deliveries.

It may comfort many of them to learn that the campaign to correct the abuse of the return privilege is a national one.

SAVE YOUR PAPER

Save your old paper and rags! By so doing, according to the department of commerce, you not only will be enriching yourself to a certain extent, but will be aiding paper manufacturers to solve what promises to become a very serious problem—the shortage of raw materials the Washington News says.

The department is sending broadcast letters to business firms urging them to conserve their old paper. Something like 15,000 tons of paper are manufactured every day in the United States and a large proportion of this, after being used, is thrown away or burned, with the result that just so much raw material must be obtained.

Most of this paper can be used again in the manufacture of a slightly inferior grade.

The exhaustion of the Schoenberg mine at Bald Station represents what is coming within a comparatively few years along the Monongahela valley. Coal is not limitless, and there remains but little river frontage that has not been worked or is not being worked. Operators cannot and do not expect to cut tons upon tons of black diamonds from the hills and valleys of this rich valley without making a dint, and they are beginning to realize the limit is not any too far distant. The wonder is that these numerous mines have held out thus far.

Not everybody knows that a very important cog of the United States War Department's operations is located at Lock No. 4 but such is the case. The government yards there manufacture anything needed in river service along three rivers and are headquarters for repair crafts of all descriptions which the government operates. River work could not be carried on successfully without these government yards, though of course location is merely a matter of choice.

ELECTRIC SPARKS

Quick Watson the Dictionary! What is an epithalamium? Why do you always see the par-technician on May 1? What is eschatology? When is a man chapulent? —Luke McLuke.

Here is the worst epithet yet applied to the Democratic party, the "present awful curse."

There is always room for improvement with everybody except a certain collection of Mexicans.

We should think some of the bill collectors of our personal acquaintance ought to make a pretty good stab at catching Villa unaided and unarmed except with a statement.

No reports have been heard so far of any insurance company rushing to Mexico to insure the life of Villa.

Soon we'll be hearing of the sale of movie stars after the same style that we read of baseball player transfers.

Abe Martin says: It leaked out at a checker game today that Ike Soule'll return to the Republican party just as soon as he can find a stenographer to take his announcement.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

A hungry Frenchman in a New York restaurant wanted eggs for breakfast, but had forgotten the English word. So he got around the difficulty in the following way: "Vaiterre, vat is dat valking in the yard?"

"A rooster, sir?"

"Ah!! and vat you call de rooster's wife?"

"The hen, sir."

"And vat you call de childrens of de rooster and his wife?"

"Chickens, sir."

"But vat you call de chicken before dey are chickens?"

"Eggs, sir."

"Bring me two."

"Now, then," said the auctioneer, holding up a pair of antique silver candlesticks, "give me a start."

"Ten cents!" came from a voice at the back of the room.

"What!" exclaimed the horrified auctioneer.

"Ah," said the bidder in an undertone and with a chuckle, "I thought that would give him a start!"

The new teacher was hearing the history lesson which dealt with the career of George Washington. Turning to one of the scholars, she asked: "James, what was Washington's farewell Address?"

The new boy with a promptitude that promised well for his answer, "Heaven, ma'am," he said.

OYSTERS

Little Talks on Health and Hygiene
By Samuel G. Dixon, M. D., LL.
D., Commissioner of Health

Oysters furnished food for prehistoric man as demonstrated in the great Indian mounds of oyster and clam shells in which are found ancient implements of war and industries. Oysters have continued to be an article of food much sought after by man and beast. The oyster however has become so high in price that on the basis of food values it cannot be listed as of economic importance.

Through its geographical range at home and abroad this bivalve has become fraught with danger from the sewage polluted waters which now reach many of the oyster beds from our large municipalities. The thickly populated communities are mostly along the streams owing to the fact that man has always settled near waterways and in the early days of our history the industries depended entirely upon water power for their mills. As these centers of population increased the disposal of waste became a great problem resulting in the building of conduits to lead it into the pure waters Nature had given us. These flowing streams carried the wastes away from the doors of one community only to poison the waters for those living down stream and at the same time polluting the waters covering our oyster and clam beds as well as driving away from our streams valuable fish.

The raw oyster today is to be looked upon with suspicion. Great care should be observed in purchasing them. The seller should be known to be reliable and he should know from what beds he gets his supply.

It is hard to explain why the oyster furnishes a fashionable dish when it has become the custom to supply the culls which a few years ago would have been thrown back into their beds as being unfit for the market. The food value of four or five of these culls is almost nil and the taste so insipid that they are flavored with strong condiments that entirely destroy what little natural flavor the culls had; therefore, it can hardly be said that these culls thrown out from the cookable oysters from various beds are palatable. They are, however, dangerous as they can and do sometimes carry the germs of typhoid fever.

Why, therefore, eat raw culls containing little or no nourishment with little or no taste and yet not infrequently carrying germs of disease.

THE PRICE OF HAPPINESS AT MAJESTIC THEATRE TONIGHT

Mary Boland for a number of years one of the leading Frohman stars of the legitimate stage will be seen at the Majestic Theatre tonight in "The Price of Happiness." The story of this big picture deals in a novel and startling dramatic manner with a theme that is perhaps best expressed in the commandment, "Thou Shalt Not Covet Thy Neighbor's Goods." The heroine of the story discovers in a series of intense situations that the supposedly more fortunate lot of her former girl friends, whom she has envied, is an illusion and that her own simpler life is the happier one.

No matter which way the wind blows, no matter if it's raw, cold and damp outside, no matter what room you want to sit in, a

will economically keep that very room genially warm. Best results when Atlantic Rayolight Oil is burned. Ask your dealer.

"Until some good friend told me of Atlantic Rayolight Oil, washing windows just discouraged me, for try as I might, rub and polish for all I was worth, the windows would get streaky. "But now I know that if I wash them with Atlantic Rayolight Oil (a half cup to a pail of hot soapy water), my windows will glisten and shine like plate glass and, what's more, they'll keep clean lots longer." So writes one busy, keen housewife.

Other wise housekeepers have found Atlantic Rayolight Oil the very best thing to keep away moths, to polish furniture, to get rid of bugs and cockroaches, to cut grease, to take off rust and for a hundred and one other purposes.

Mind you, it is Atlantic Rayolight Oil, not ordinary kerosene, that these thousands of women have found indispensable in their housework, for there's a vast difference. Atlantic Rayolight Oil is refined by slow, careful processes from the very finest crude petroleum. It is always of even quality.

And so it burns without smoke or smell, burns slowly and economically; makes a better lamp of any lamp, and a more effective heater of any heater. But best results—the most heat for the least money—come when Atlantic Rayolight Oil is burned in a Perfection Smokeless Heater.

KING OF URBAN TREES.

Qualities That Adapt the Elm to Architectural Surroundings.

The elm is essentially a self-sufficient tree. It does not thrive in groves. It has a standard type of its own, and it either attains this type or is lost to view. The elm which comes to maturity is usually the one which has lodged in a favored spot where there is no competition, such as a river meadow, where the spring freshets have dropped the seed on fertile soil and the roots can get down to water.

We all know the type, the noble trunk of massive birth tapering very gradually upward to the first spring of branches and then dissolving into those branches as a water jet might dissolve in many upward and out curving streams till the whole is lost in the spray of the foliage. Like many other trees that grow alone, it develops an exquisite symmetry. But with the elm this symmetry is not only one of general contour, but of individual limbs. Not only is the silhouette symmetrical, but the skeleton also, branch balancing branch.

That is what gives it its remarkable fitness to comport with architectural lines, with geometrically designed vistas. It has a formal structure and a consequent dignity which make it the logical shade for a village street, a chapel, a library, the scholarly procession in cap and gown. Add to that dignity its arched and airy lightness and its splendid size and you have the king of urban trees—Walter Prichard Eaton in Century.

A LUCKY STONE.

Maybe the Part It Played Was Merely That of Coincidence.

In his book, "The Magic of Jewels and Charms," George F. Kunz relates this little story of a lucky stone and the adventures of its owners:

"Some years ago a meteorite was given to Edward Heron Allen, the famous writer on gemology and the violin, and this gifted man always wore it about him. One morning he awakened to find that the entire roof above him had fallen in, except just that portion over his bed.

"He told the story to one of the best known ladies in Boston, one who is known for her public spirit, her love of art and her faultless manner of entertaining. This lady successfully urged Allen to give her the meteorite.

"A few days later, while out driving, a great truck with two runaway horses attached to it struck her carriage. Instantly she raised her muff to protect her face. The muff was almost cut in two, but the lady was not hurt. A few days later, while she was walking under some scaffolding, it fell, and the open part where the hoists went up proved to be just where she stood. Although surrounded by ruin, she remained unharmed."

Whether the stone was a factor in averting disaster to its owners in their moments of peril is, however, a matter apart from the facts in the case.

How to Quit Smoking.

Do not light the first cigar less than half an hour after breakfast. The more difficult this delay may be the more need there is for a cure. The remainder of the day smoke the same as usual. It is only the first cigar with which we are dealing. Keep this up for a week, then lengthen the interval to an hour for another week, then make it one and a half hours, two, two and a half, and so on. If you have an "all gone" sensation, a longing for something, eat an orange or apple or almost any kind of fruit, but don't smoke until the time is up. The nerves, being deprived of their morning stimulant, are crying for nourishment, which nature is hastening to supply through increased appetite to supply digestion. By the time the first cigar is entirely eliminated the cure is effected with no serious derangement of the heart or digestive apparatus.—Exchange.

Lost His Bearings.

It was an English skipper of the olden time who, having knowledge beyond the seeming needs, as he could read and use the charts, was dispatched to Rotterdam. The skipper had never been to Rotterdam before, so after getting over the bar, and well away to the east he produced his charts and made a leisurely inspection, but the charts had been a long time in the locker and circumstances combined to alarm him extremely. He went up on deck and called to his mate, "Put her about; the rats have eaten Holland!"

A Reasonable Proposition.

Bumper—You owe me $20,000, which you say you can't pay. Why don't you marry Miss Oldgirl? She's worth twice that amount. Jumper—No; I can't do that. But you might marry her yourself and pay me the difference.—Flingende Blaetter.

Beauty.

When a beautiful soul harmonizes with a beautiful form, and the two are cast in one mold, that will be the fairest of sights to him who has an eye to see.—Plato.

Figuratively Speaking.

"Pop, what's a pessimist?" "A man who's seasick during his entire voyage of life. Gwan to bed now, son."—Princeton Tiger.

Cause Enough.

"What made him angry when he was telephoning to the lawyers about his father's will?" "He was cut off."

Unless a man tries to do more than he can do he will not do all he can do.—S. S. McClure.

ONCE A SOVEREIGN STATE.

Now Noli Is Simply A Fishing Village With A Past.

One of the oddest and quaintest little independent states that ever existed in Europe—the tiny republic of Noli, founded before Rome and maintaining its liberty for many centuries until Napoleon swept away its privileges—is today merely a fishing village near Genoa, but it is full of reminders of its former greatness and affords a wonderful glimpse of mediæval times. Destroyed by the Carthaginians in 217 B. C., and who knows how often by subsequent marauders, there seemed no limit to her powers of recovery.

This quaint little fishing village maintained itself as a sovereign state for centuries, took a prominent part in the quarrels of Guelphs and Ghibellines, sent doughty warriors to the Crusades, commanded the interest of emperors and popes and only succumbed at last to the armies of Napoleon. Dante clambered hither over terrible hills on hands and knees and reviled himself by consigning Noli to his "Purgatory."

Everybody is rich in this poor man's paradise, says the White World Magazine. During the anchovy months it is not rare for the 120 boats to earn $4,000 in a night, or $75,000 in a season. The anchovy boats are more than a clerk, besides which he has no "appearances" to keep up. Under these happy conditions he soon acquires land and houses, which afford a steady revenue while he sleeps or fishes. The earth here has only to be scratched in order to bring forth wealth, so rich is the soil and so abundant the water.

PERILOUS ATHLETICS.

Sport That Wrecks the Heart an Evil to Be Avoided.

"No one will gainsay the value and pleasure of outdoor exercise graduated to suit the needs of every individual throughout life," says the Journal of the American Medical Association. "But the species of overdoing called for in the intense competition of the great contests of our schools and colleges can no longer be defended by platitudes regarding the alleged psychological value of its competitive features. The time has come when statistics regarding latest athletic injuries must be reckoned with and the lives of our youths safeguarded by making a distinction between sane sport and in sane participation in the intolerable strain of competitive games of the extreme type."

The same paper says the authorities of colleges need to be reminded in an emphatic way, in the words of Dr. R. N. Wilson of Philadelphia, that "no form of athletic event is sane that demands of the participants the semiconscious state of heart exhaustion at its conclusion."

And it denounces the daredevil form of "sport" that depend for their thrill on nearest possible approach to death by the actors in them, such, for example, as "looping the loop" in an airplane or driving a motorcar at a hundred miles an hour. Such, it says, are not sport, but degeneracy.

A Strange Situation.

"Humor is a very funny thing," said Blinks.

"It ought to be," said the philosopher. "Oh, I don't mean that way," said Blinks. "I mean that it is a strange thing. Now, I can't speak French, but I can always understand a French joke, and I can speak English, but I'm blessed if I can see an English joke."

"Most people are," said the philosopher.

"Are what?" said Blinks. "Blessed if they can see an English joke," said the philosopher. "It is a sign of an unusually keen vision."

Force of the Imagination.

There is a story of a man who was tied up in a dark room and informed that he was to be put to death by guillotining. His tormentors made a small incision in his neck and arranged for a stream of lukewarm water to trickle down his back for fifteen minutes. At the end of fifteen minutes the man died of exhaustion. He had not lost a drop of blood, but he thought he had. Such is the power of suggestion.—London Saturday Review.

Disraeli's Humor.

I was introduced by particular request to Mrs. Wyndham Lewis, a pretty little woman, a flirt and a rattle. Indeed, gifted with a volubility I should think unequalled and of which I can convey no idea. She told me she liked "stent, melancholy men." I answered that I had no doubt of it.—Letter of Benjamin Disraeli to His Sister.

Different Effects.

"The same thing will make entirely different impressions on different readers," remarked the man who writes. "Quite so," replied the lawyer. "Let us which bring fear to a girl's eyes frequently make a jury laugh."—Wash Poston Star.

Paraguay Lace.

Lace making was taught the natives of Paraguay by missionaries two centuries ago. Today in all towns of 8,000 inhabitants many of the men and nearly all the women and children make lace collarets, handkerchiefs and ladies' ties.

BATTLED FOR THEIR BRIDES.

The Most Thrilling Wedding Day in the World's History.

Do you know what was the most thrilling wedding day in the history of the world? There have been many romantic marriages and many nuptial services that had to be deferred because of the opposition of parent or rival, but all of them pale into dingy gray when compared with the colorful spectacle of the abduction and rescue of the Venetian brides in the early winter of 1224, when Candiano II, the noble doge, was leading his presence to the biggest wedding party in the history of the church of San Pietro. It had long been the custom for all the noble brides to be married on St. Mary's day. It was, moreover, the custom for the brides to bring with them all their jewels and their dowries, in gold coin, inclosed in handsomely carved chests.

The latter fact was well known in Trieste, that ancient Roman colony which was the harbor for bands of pirates who were most clever navigators. On this richest of all St. Mary's wedding days the ceremony for more than a score of brides had already begun when the pirates from Trieste burst into the church, captured the brides and their dowries and carried them to the waiting boats. Thanks to the Trunkmakers' union, there were several boats waiting, and in these the be- reft bridegrooms and the sturdy trunk makers gave pursuit. There was a battle royal, one of the most thrilling sea fights on record, dowries and brides were recovered, and before midnight all had been safely married.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

GET RICH QUICK SCHEMES.

For Big Investors They May Work, but Not For Small Ones.

"Those who labor hard for their money and who have a still more arduous struggle in saving small sums," says a banker in the American Magazine, "naturally fall easy victims in many instances to the desire for sudden riches. But the fatal error lies in supposing that the person of small means can afford to take the chance if he or she loses they lose all. The large capitalist and the professional money lender have the law of averages working with them. They can afford to sink money into twenty ventures if they make a thousand per cent on one. They are protected by the law of chance, the average safety of their investments depending upon no single risk."

"Risk is a necessary part of business, but should be borne by the strong, never by the weak. The promoter who talks about the small investor being given the same opportunities as the very rich is indulging in 'bunk.' He always forgets to say that a safe 5 per cent bond or a 6 per cent mortgage, cold, impersonal depositories for funds, will, at the end of five years have paid their owners 30 per cent to 35 per cent—allowing for compound interest—and that the vast majority of new ventures with big promises will have paid nothing."

"Only the man who can afford to take risks has any business to look for an investment that will make him rich quickly."

Disraeli and the Editor.

Disraeli would dearly have liked to suspend the London Globe years ago when that paper, then a Whig organ, fell foul of him over his "Vindication of the English Constitution." Few editors have ever been so roughly abused as in Disraeli's letter to the Times: "It is not my passion for notoriety that has induced me to tweak the editor of the Globe by the nose and to inflict sundry kicks upon the baser part of his base body, to make him eat dirt and his own words, fouler than any filth, but because I wished to show to the world what a miserable poltroon, what a craven dillard, what a literary scarecrow, what a mere thing, stuffed with straw and rubbish, is the so-called director of public opinion and official organ of Whig politics."—London Opinion.

Kick of the Gun.

When a young American joins the national guard or following that instinct which not even long city life can entirely kill, takes a gun and starts out as a hunter, one of the earliest surprises he gets is that nasty hard kick his firearm gives him.

But the kick of the big guns in war is tremendous. Some of the guns jump into the air. In others mechanism takes up the rebound and the gun slides back into place.

It is a curious fact that each of these great guns takes its kick in a way all its own.—New York World.

Strychnine.

The number of plants used for medicinal purposes in the Philippines is very large. A few are recognized as sources of standard medicines, but the number having commercial value is decidedly small. From one, the St. Ignatius bean (Strychnos ignatii), the strychnine of commerce is extracted.

Patient.

Her Father—The fact is, I cannot give my daughter a penny just at present. Suitor—That's all right, sir. I can love her for herself alone in the meantime.—Boston Transcript.

Combination Spoiled.

He—She married a fool with barrels of money. She—Then why isn't she happy? He—Marriage brought him to his senses.—Boston Transcript.

We only see in a lifetime a dozen faces marked with the peace of a contented spirit.—Beecher.

ENTERTAINMENTS ARE LOCALLY ARRANGED

Ideas Originated Here, Music Composed by Prof. Daniel—Pageant of Ninth Street School the Plan of Miss Edith Woodhall

One of the features in connection with the school entertainments tonight and tomorrow is that the programs are distinctively home affairs in every particular. Idea, music, costuming and arrangement are all due to the school people in charge.

For tonight's program the dances are taught by teachers. A part of the program is "The Fairies' Tribunal" and all the music for this was written by Prof. I. T. Daniel, music supervisor. Tonight's entertainment will be given by the Crest avenue and Fifth street school pupils.

Tomorrow night the Ninth and Second street schools will combine in a program. The Second street program will consist of a flag salute by pupils of first grade, a lullaby, "Dolly Stop Weeping" by the pupils of the second grade, dramatization "The Bears" by pupils of second and third grades, the dairy maid's drill by pupils of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades and the song, "We're Jolly Haymakers," dairymaids and haymakers. Miss Elma Collins will be the accompanist.

"The Pageant of Nations" will be given by the Ninth street school children, this being an idea originated by Miss Edith Woodhall. The pageant represents the world's foremost nations, properly garbed showing by dance, drill or song, the customs of their countries. The play closes with a hymn of praise to God for prosperity and peace in America, sung by Uncle Sam and Columbia, (Joe Torrito and Awilda Elstner) followed by the full cast in the chorus, "All Hail to Our Flag" a beautiful national hymn. The dances and drills costuming and words were arranged by Miss Woodhall. There are numerous characters. For both the Second street and Ninth street performances the music was written by Prof. Daniel.

All evening shows are to begin promptly at 8 o'clock.

HENRY GRANTED A VOICE IN OHIO TOWN FROM HIS WIFE

In the Court of Common Pleas of Erie county, at Sandusky, O., Basil N. Henry of Vermillion, the state, has been granted a divorce from his wife, Myrtle V. Henry, now residing with her parents at Newell, Pa. Gross neglect of duty was given as the cause for the annulment of the marriage ceremony which occurred at Charleroi, Pa., in 1911. The mother retains custody of their three year old daughter, Virginia Valley Henry but the court's order permits the father seeing the child when desired.

The couple formerly resided at Monessen where Henry was employed by the Independent. He now occupies a position with the Vermillion News. His father W. E. Henry and brother Norman and Carl are well known residents of Essen, a part of Monessen.

COMMISSION FIVE THE COUNTY TREASURER DEFINITELY FIXED

County Treasurer W. H. Alexander's commission has been fixed by the county commissioners. There is little change from the commission paid the former treasurer. The only change is that Mr. Alexander will receive two per cent on the first $50,000 while the former treasurer received two per cent on the first $25,000.

The commission of the present treasurer will be two per cent on the first $50,000, one per cent on the balance of the taxes received one-eighth of one per cent on other monies received and one-eighth of one per cent on other monies paid out, not to include the payment of the principal of loans made to the county.

Bienville Social.

Attend the rube social at P. H. C. Friday night. Come on Si get on your old blue overalls. Lots of nice gals and home made doughnuts and gingerbread. Fetch 15 cents in your jeans to help defray expenses.

Poor Idea.

A man who employed a number of boys to pick raspberries was quite anxious to protect them from mosquitoes, so he had veils made to tie down around the neck. The boys were very grateful for his kindness until they found that there were no mosquitoes in that locality and also that they couldn't eat any berries with those veils on. The "protection" was of another sort.

Take Notice:—All who are concerned in this appraisal that an appeal will be held at the office of the County Treasurer in Washington, Pa., on Thursday, April 13th, 1916, between the hours of 9 A. M. and 4 P. M. when and where you may attend if you think proper.

Battlecry of the Cat.
The piercing wailing of the cat the night startles and exasperates beyond all bearing—not by its loudness, but by a certain vicious, weird, half terrifying, half infuriating note in it that makes us spring to arms with the bootjack or other substitute for the boomerang, as the warwhoop of our tribal enemies did a century or centuries ago. Says Dr. Woods Hutchinson.

One of Mark Twain's wise old frontiersmen had caught this note when he explained to the tenderfoot that unusual speech had rules of composition and grammar, just like human speech, and that "the reason a cat riles ye so ain't on account of the noise she makes, but on account of the sickening bad grammar she uses." And he was right for the grammar of scap-lifting and the whole alphabet of battle, murder and sudden death tingles and screams in the rasping cry.

The Weather Changeth Not.
The oldest weather diary known to be in existence was kept by a Lincolnshire parson, William Merle, close on 600 years ago. From 1337 to 1344 he wrote it up, often day by day, in Latin, and his manuscript, being on vellum, was somehow preserved and is now in the Bodleian. Merle did not trouble himself with the popular lore about "skye influences," but stuck to an accurate record of fact, in the spirit at least of the modern meteorologists. And from his jottings it seems that he had pretty much the same kind of weather to deal with as folks in his parish of Fyrlby experience now. Contrary to theory, the changes of six centuries have not reduced the number of wet days in the year.—London Chronicle.

Vanilla Beans.
The vanilla bean is the costliest bean in the world. It flourishes in Mexico, chiefly in Papantla and Misantla. It grows wild and is gathered and marketed by the natives. Just as they come from the forests the beans sell at $10 per 1,000. After the beans are dried and cured they are worth from $10 to $11 a pound, according to quality. They are used by druggists and confectioners and are an important article of commerce.

NAILING AN IMAGE.
Curious Custom of the Natives of the Kongo Country.
Among the curious objects in the home of the Royal Geographical Society at Kensington Gore, in London, is a fetish that was captured in 1865 from river pirates on the Kongo river. It is a wooden figure with mica eyes that glisten unpleasantly in the dark. A number of heavy nails have been driven into its body.
According to Mr. T. A. Joyce of the British Museum, the practice of driving nails into images has two purposes. One is simply to get a favor granted. In that case the worshiper on paying the fee, a man a few pennies, is permitted to drive a nail into the figure while uttering his petition. The other purpose is to injure an enemy. In that case the applicant pays a heavy fee and drives his nail into the figure in the belief that his enemy will fall ill and die.
A man who falls ill goes at once to the fetish man and makes inquiries, and if he finds that an enemy has driven a nail into the idol with him in mind he bribes the fetish man heavily to remove it. That, he thinks, insures his getting well.
The principle underlying the practice is quite different from that underlying the old practice of making a wax image of an enemy and driving pins into it. The wax figure represented the victim, who in some occult way felt in his own person the abuse lavished on his effigy. The nail driven into the wooden figure, on the contrary, is to remind the god to perform the wishes of the petitioner. It is, as it were, to tie a string round his finger.—Youth's Companion.

LEGEND OF THE VAMPIRE.
Queer Beliefs That Cling About This Old World Superstition.
The vampire, according to the belief of eastern Europe, is the physical body of a dead person, male or female, that malafatus itself in a sort of half life in the grave by returning to its former haunts and nourishing itself on the blood of living persons. This superstition is characteristically Slavonic.
The vampire superstition is strongest in White Russia and the Ukraine, though it also pervades the popular belief in Poland and Serbia, among the Czechs of Bohemia and the Slovaks of Hungary and is to be traced as far as Albania and Greece. Comparative philology proves it to have had a common origin with the equally hideous legend of the were wolf, a human being who could at will assume the appearance and ferocity of a wolf, which if wounded in its nocturnal pursuits in the head or limbs could not efface its injuries or escape detection when it returned to its human form.
The vampire is to be detected during his visits to the haunts of man by his extreme pallor, his unnaturally long and pointed canine teeth and his fetid breath. The vampire also throws no shadow either upon the ground or on a looking glass and is never seen to eat or drink. How he leaves and re-enters his grave is an undecided point, because no one is ever supposed to have had the courage and address to see, but the belief is that locked doors and closed windows are no bar to his movements.—London Globe.

Trial of a Dead Man.
Charles de Bourbon, high constable of France, died in conquering Rome, which his leaderless soldiers straightway sacked. For this crime it was necessary to find a scapegoat, so on July 26, 1527, in the presence of King Francis I., on his seat of justice, assisted by the peers of France and the assembled chambers, Jean de Surie, first usher of the court, called Charles de Bourbon three times—at the bar of the parliament, at the marble table and at the marble steps—and then reported that the said De Bourbon had not appeared. The sentence was drawn up, then solemnly read. "The constable de France, dead, was condemned, his goods returned to the crown, and the door of his palace by the Louvre was painted yellow."

Teeth Tell Sheep's Age.
A lamb has eight small first teeth on the lower jaw. When the animal reaches the age of about one year the middle pair are replaced by two permanent teeth; at the age of about two the teeth on either side of these permanent teeth are also replaced with a permanent pair; at the age of three the next tooth on either side gives way to a permanent tooth, and at the age of four the last or back teeth are replaced in like manner.—Farm and Home.

Grievously Disappointed.
"Have you found out why Jinks is looking so depressed these days?"
"It seems that a friend of Jinks was in financial difficulties and Jinks offered his help."
"Well?"
"His friend took him up."—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Pugnacious Dove.
Peace lovers had better find another bird to become symbolical of their ideas, for the dove is not a bird of peace, but is one of the most pugnacious little fighters. In fact, the dove fights a large part of its waking hours.—Washington Star.

His Reasons.

"That is why he was so anxious to be repaired."—Baltimore American.

MOST FEMININE OF TREES.
The Birch Seems to Take a Delight in Theatrical Effects.
The birch, above all our American trees, delights in theatrical effects. And if that sentence is objected to on the ground of "pathetic fallacy," we will counter it by the whole story at once and add that it is the most feminine of trees.
In earliest spring when the larches are pushing up last year's leaves and our Berberis mountain sides are denuding their frail, delicate veils of last year's foliage, the birch is conspicuous for the sparkling whiteness of her new foliage, a tree so much lighter and more delicate than all the other greens that it draws all the attention even if it were not borne on a snow white stem.
You've seen birch all the dating of a debutante.
Later, when the summer thunder-storms come, the birch has another trick up its sleeve. Some afternoon a dark, cumulous thunder head will mass behind the crest of a hill, and suddenly an old birch on the summit will leap into startling prominence, so that it focuses the entire attention, like a single, brilliant streak of chalk white lightning.
Again, in midwinter, when the birch by lights that protectively colored and incense-points, it is the other trees we do not notice, and the birch tree rises by the side of the frozen stream, perhaps, or against the dark wall of the pines and displays all its snowy limbs to best advantage against snowgreen or sky.—Walter Prichard Eaton in Century Magazine.

GUARDING THE CHILDREN.
Widows With Offspring Should Be Sure to Make Their Wills.
Sometimes the failure to make a will involves more than a loss of time and money. You may be a widow and die without a will, leaving children who are not yet of age. Now, you may not care who looks after your property, but you do have a lively interest in the person who looks after your children. If you had left a will you could have named therein the guardian for your children. The court must do so, and the guardian appointed by it may charge commissions, counsel fees and premiums payable out of your children's share of your estate.
Suppose you leave real estate. It can't be sold without an order of the court. That involves a long and expensive proceeding on the part of your administrator. If you leave minor children that still further complicates matters. A guardian must be appointed for them who must join in the application—at a price—and their shares must be set aside and held until they are of age—also at a price. "Infant's proceedings," as such actions are termed, are most technical and expensive, yet unless every contingency is provided for good title cannot be given to the real estate. Nor can clear title be given for at least two years after your death. If you had left a will you could have included therein a power of sale, and at any time when the interests of the estate demanded it the property could have been sold.—Samuel Scoville, Jr., in Good Housekeeping.

A Bit of Sicily.
"There is no Italian town more picturesque than the Sicilian capital, Palermo," writes a traveler. "Sailing ships of all rigs, their hulls painted all the colors of the rainbow, nose up against the quay, where movie carts, whose drivers are shouting at the top of their voices, wait to take away the merchandise. The narrow streets where the custom house officers examine the goods brought ashore is a place of terrific noise. When a driver, two clerks and two custom house officers are discussing the contents of a bale or a cask it seems as though murder must be committed within the next few seconds. But somebody signs something, the cart moves on, and everybody laughs."

Murdering Shakespeare.
"I never hesitate to cut and slash and change any play until it suits me," said Stuart Robinson to his legal adviser on one occasion.
"I suppose you edit Shakespeare with a blue pencil?" replied the lawyer.
"You can just bet I do."
"Then, I imagine, you would plead guilty to an indictment for murdering the Bard of Avon?"
"No; I would not, but I would admit dissecting his corpse."

How Silver Bow Got Its Name.
Silver Bow creek received its name from a party of prospectors who reached its valley in the vicinity of Butte in 1864, says a bulletin of the federal geological survey. While discussing the best name for the stream the clouds broke away, and the sunshine, falling on the creek as it circled around the mountain, suggested the name Silver Bow, and it was accordingly so called.

A Smooth Approach.
"You seem hard worked, sir," said the affable stranger.
"I'm half dead."
"Then I called in the nick of time. I'm selling life insurance. If you're half dead you can't get a policy any too quick."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Impossible Feat.
Irate Father—"Don't you think, young man, you can walk into this house and hang up your hat. Timid Sutor—"I know I can't, sir. You're sitting on it."—Baltimore American.

The more you speak of yourself the more you are likely to lie.—Zimmerman

WHEN BIRDS MIGRATE.
Yearly Flight of the Wheatear From Africa to Greenland.
In flying from Europe to Africa birds cross the Mediterranean sea at a point where the water is so shallow that it is believed the two continents were formerly connected there. The land bridge, which it is thought formerly guided the birds in their flight, has disappeared, but the habit of crossing at this particular point still remains.
How do you suppose the little wheatear, no larger than a bobolink, forms the habit of migrating from Europe to Greenland? Probably he comes by way of England and Ireland, but at the best it is a long journey and seems to take the bird much farther than it is necessary to go. In the autumn he goes back to winter in Africa.
In fact, some European water birds visit us every year, but the wheatear, so far as I know, is the only land bird which migrates regularly between North America and Africa. With this exception, no North American land birds leave the western hemisphere in their migrations.
The birds of the western United States are not such keen travelers as those of the eastern part of our country. Some of them travel only from the higher parts of the Rocky mountains or Sierras, where they nest, to the low, warm valleys in which they winter.
Those that leave the United States go into Mexico. Some continue their journey as far south as Guatemala, but few go farther south than that. They can, therefore, make their journey overland and so do not encounter the dangers to which many of our eastern migrants are exposed.—Frank M. Chapman in St. Nicholas.

MYSTERY OF THE MOLE.
He Lives in the Dark, Yet Years For the Midday Sun.
There is a great mystery about the moles. They live in the dark underground, but yet they are sun worshippers. Just at the hour of noon, when the sun is at its highest point in the sky, the mole often comes to the surface. It is a habit of the race, a kind of religious observance, one might think.
Seldom does a mole willingly make its appearance in the upper world at any other time of the day, but at that moment they come of their own accord. This fact, which has been observed again and again, has never been explained by naturalists.
But, remembering the common belief that a mole is blind, you may ask, "How can it see the sun?" The myth of the blindness of moles has been brushed away. Some species perhaps cannot see, but most of them can. Their eyes are very small and hidden in the fine hair, but they serve as organs of vision.
Still, they can have very little use for them underground. Any leakings of daylight that may penetrate there must be extremely faint, and if their eyes were meant to enable them to see with so little illumination they ought to be large and free from obstruction, whereas they are minute and thatched with hair. But such eyes may be particularly well suited for an occasional look at the blinding sun.—New York Journal.

Imprisonment For Debt.
About the middle of the last century the power of imprisoning a debtor for life was taken from the creditor, and it fills one with amazement to think that a system so ridiculous should have continued as long as it did. The three principal debtors' prisons in England were the King's Bench, the Marshalsea and the Borough Compter. In the year 1759 there were 20,000 prisoners for debt in Great Britain and Ireland. The utility of the system was quite as great as its barbarity. More than half the prisoners in some of the prisons were kept there solely because they could not pay the attorneys' costs. Many prisoners had their wives and children with them. There was no infirmary, no resident surgeon and no bath.—Dundee Advertiser.

There's This Difference.
When a woman buys a hat and meets another woman:
"How do you like this hat, dear?"
"Lovely, simply lovely. You have such good taste." (Later "Of all the hats I ever saw that's the worst.")
When a man buys a hat and meets another man:
"How'd like the hat, Mike? Class, eh?"
"Say, is that a hat? Who stung you?"—Detroit News.

The Trouble.
"Confound the luck!" growled the visitor. "Here's this front door been freshly painted!"
"Yes," said his friend from a safe distance. "It is hard luck. Any one to look at you can see you have been up against it."—Baltimore American.

White Elephants.
So called white elephants are light gray in color. The lightest ever seen in Siam was one brought over to Bangkok by a European circus, but the rains fell and the paint came off.

Contradictory.
"Poetry is an ascent to the heights."
"That's what I think. Yet when you start to write it people say you have dropped into verse."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

No love is placed on a solid basis which is not governed by reason as well as by the heart.—O'Reil.

KENTUCKY COLONELS.
In the Nature of Things They Simply Can't Help Being Numerous.
In the south especially and in Kentucky more especially a man becomes a colonel at about forty years of age. He is of a willful, rebellious, obstreperous disposition and inclined to stand up for an admitted but rarely exercised right not to become known as a "colonel." A man who is not sudden and quick in quarrels and who can be put upon cannot escape becoming "colonel." Many men whose courage is unquestioned prefer not to engage in street fights in opposition to an established custom. It is the rule rather than the exception to submit good naturedly, or with concealed indignance when the first three gray hairs appear at the temples and the use of the title becomes by popular consent.
There are, of course, many colonels under forty. When a governor is inaugurated he has the power to appoint staff colonels. A governor who does not appoint as colonels such of his constituents as he knows by name is lacking in the punctiliousness which distinguishes the practical politician. Thus many young men who would have been colonels if they had adopted a military career are made colonels in civil life. Another predisposing cause of premature colonelcy is the tendency of some men to become fat early in life. A man who measures as much as forty inches at the waist line and has not been convicted of felony is entitled, even obliged, to be called "colonel" before he is forty.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

HER BORROWED ROBE.
It Brought an Actress the Most Perilous Moment of Her Life.
"The only time I ever was a thief saved my life," said Rose Coghlan once. "My sister-in-law, Louisa Thornton, was playing in 'Colleen Bawn' in Scotland. I was Anne Chute, one of the bridesmaids, and I always dressed in Louisa's room with her.
"This particular night she was ill, and her understudy went on. Now, it happened that I had longed and longed to wear a certain costume of Louisa's. It wasn't one bit suitable for a girl of my age in a bridesmaid part, being made of heavy white corded silk with a long court train and all the fixings, but I adored it.
"I dressed up in it and went out to wait for the cue with the other girls. Just as we were ready to go on some one behind me said, 'Rose, your dress is on fire!'
"I think that is the most fearful word that can sound in a theater—'Fire.' My train had caught fire from one of the little gas footlights, unprotected then.
"The girls in their light dresses were trying to get away from me, and the nearest man, Hardress, was handcuffed. I crushed my train in my hands to smother the creeping flame and backed off down the steps under the stage. A man down there threw a heavy cloak over me, and I fainted. I was burned badly around my hands and arms and neck, but the heavy silk dress saved me."—New York World.

The Tyrant in the Field.
There have been few commanders so tyrannous as Lopez, the dictator of Paraguay, when in the war of 1865-70 it fought single handed the neighboring countries of Argentina, Brazil and Uruguay. Lopez, says Mr. W. H. Koebel in his "Argentina," was wont to carry the theory of victory or death to an uncomfortable point. "Officers were executed for mere remarks whose tone fell beneath the standard of confidence that Lopez had set up for himself. One, for instance, was shot for having announced in the course of his duty that the enemy was strongly intrenched. Another met his end on account of an unguarded speech to the effect that the Paraguayan army was accustomed to count the enemy's losses and forget its own."

Yawning.
Yawning is a peculiar act and one that has never yet been properly accounted for. It is not by any means a sign of fatigue only, although it is sometimes produced by overexertion. But an attack of yawning comes on much more quickly if one is intensely bored, and certainly a stuffy atmosphere tends to produce it. It is also noticeable that when one has gone considerably past one's mealtime the tendency to yawn frequently becomes irresistible. A very peculiar feature of this complaint is its infectiousness; one person can easily set half a dozen all yawning in turn. When a man in a very marked extent it is supposed to be the outcome of anaemia, indigestion or some other complaint.

Real Sympathy.
An old farmer down the country giving instructions for his will directed a legacy of $25,000 to be given to his wife. Being informed that some distinction was usually made in case the widow married again, he doubled the sum, and when told that this was contrary to custom he said, with heartfelt sympathy for his possible successor, "Aye, but him that gets her'll deserve it."

The Flight of Birds.
One of the few men to recover sight after being blind from the birth of recollection was reported to have wondered at nothing so much as the flight of the birds. "Why do not people make more fuss about them?" he said.—London Outlook.

Artificial.

"DINING CARS" HENCEFORTH TO BE "RESTAURANT CARS"

Pennsylvania Railroad Takes Initiative in Suspending Use of Name Which is Misnomer.

On April 1 the Pennsylvania Railroad will discontinue the use of the name "Dining Car." After that date the cars now known as "Dining Cars" will be known as "Restaurant Cars." The term "Dining Car" is a misnomer, as the word "dining" properly applies to a place to eat dinner. A breakfast and luncheon, as well as dinner, are served in the so-called "dining car." It is actually a "restaurant" car and the Pennsylvania Railroad has decided to take the initiative in abolishing the misnomer and in giving the car its proper title.

This change marks the passing of a name that has been associated with first-class railroad travel for nearly thirty-four years. The first "dining" car was used on the Pennsylvania Railroad's "New York and Chicago Limited" in September, 1882. Previous to that date, through trains had been equipped with "hotel cars" which were sleeping cars with a kitchen or buffet in one end. "Hotel cars" were first used in November 1878.

FRACTIONAL HEIFER CAVES IN RIBS OF HER OWNER

Cyrus Fisher of near Belle Vernon is suffering from injuries sustained from the hoofs of a heifer. This week Fisher bought a heifer at a public sale. The next day he attempted to lead his property home. "All went well until they got out of sight. Then they had an argument. The heifer pushed Fisher and he landed in a drain at the side of the road. Promptly the heifer landed on the prostrate owner and caved in three ribs. The heifer was captured later.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD MAKES WONDERFUL RECORD

In 1915, the third successive year in which no passenger was killed in a train accident on the Pennsylvania Railroad lines east of Pittsburgh and Erie, 4,361,519 tests and observations were made to determine how well the train operating rules and signals were being obeyed. These tests covered the work of both officers and employees.

The results, which have just been compiled, show that only one error occurred in every 1,110 trials, giving a record of 99.9 per cent of absolute perfection. In four classes of tests, including obedience to various "stop" signals, not a single failure on the part of any employee occurred throughout the year.

An exceptionally high record was made in the observance of rules intended especially for the protection of the employees. These included such matters as precautions in the shifting of trains and also the safety regulations governing men engaged in track work.

In the shifting of trains, 68,941 observations were made and 17 errors recorded. There were 342,991 tests for obedience to the safety rules for track workmen and in only 73 cases were these rules disregarded in any way. That meant one error in every 4,699 trials. Last year accidents to employees were reduced 11 per cent.

Only eight failures to follow strictly the rules governing watchmen stationed at grade crossings occurred in the 62,934 instances which were observed last year.

Cries Not Caused by Pain.
A well-known merchant of New York has a $5 gold piece that he swallowed as a child of five immediately after its presentation to him. Doctors were summoned by twos and threes and stomach pumps brought in a hurry. While waiting the little chap cried and cried, refusing to be soothed. His mother, hugging and moaning over her boy, supposed the cries meant pain. Just before the doctors came, however, a sharp inquiry by the donor of the gold piece brought out the sobbing statement by the little chap that he wasn't in pain, but he wanted his gold piece back. Immediately another piece was placed in his hand and almost immediately his cries ceased.

Stark Realism.

An advance agent for a theatrical production was speaking to a newspaper man with reference to the wonderful powers of the leading woman. ## STUBBORN ECZEMA HEALED BY AMOLOX

We are daily receiving letters of praise from people who have been cured by Amolox. Many of them tell how, for years, they have tried different remedies and doctors in the vain effort to find relief. Some become discouraged and lose all hope of ever being cured. E. R. Frisbee, 187 Sycamore St., Mansfield, O., writes: "Our baby's face was covered with eczema scales, sores and scabs. She was a pitiable sight. We tried everything. Took her to Pittsburgh doctors but were unable to find any relief until we used Amolox. It cured her within a short time."

Amolox ointment will quickly heal pimples on the face, red nose, and minor skin troubles. Chronic cases of dry or moist scaly eczema require both the ointment and liquid to effect a cure. At all drug stores. Trial size, 50c. Recommended and guaranteed by Piper Pharmacy.
